IS ASSOCIATION
TO BE DROPPED?Members of Retail Merchants Organization Believe it Should Give Way to Commercial Body.

TO SETTLE QUESTION MONDAY

It is Argued That Rushville Should Have Live Organization in Which All Participate.

Only a few merchants were present last night at the regular meeting of the Retail Merchants Association. The falling off in the attendance was the subject for discussion of the few members who were there.

There was a sentiment that the Retail Merchants Association had outlived its usefulness and that it should give way to a commercial club which would have for its goal the industrial and social betterment of Rushville. With this in view it was decided that a S. O. S. call should be sent out to the members for a meeting next Monday night when the subject of disbanding will be considered.

It is urgently requested that all others who are interested and desire to see Rushville progress in the next year as it has in the past two or three years attend the meeting next Monday night and express their opinions as the most logical course to pursue.

The Retail Merchants Association was organized by the business men of Rushville with a view to assisting Rushville along industrial lines. Every man in the city of Rushville was invited to participate in the organization and in the deliberations of the body.

But partially due to the name and partially to the activities of the members in conducting "Big Wednesdays" and other attractions, the idea became paramount that the Association had been organized and was being promoted to further the interests of the retail dealers. The rumor was current that the organization was a combination to boost prices.

It is considered unfortunate that the stigma when the true facts were far from that. Those who have attended practically every meeting assert that such a thing as prices, or a combination of any sort to extract money from the Rushville trade was never so much as intimated. The organization conducted "Big Wednesdays" with a view to attracting trade to Rushville and get people, who had been visiting other cities, in the habit of spending their time and money in Rushville.

The members of the Association have always had the best interests of the city at heart. This fact can be established by recalling some of the achievements of the association. It is largely responsible for all of the improvements which have been brought about here in the last two years. It is unnecessary to reiterate what they are, as every observant person can not but see the changes that have been wrought here in such a short space of time.

The association has always been on the alert for an opportunity to locate a good factory. It has placed the industrial betterment of Rushville above all things. With this record the association appealed to Rushville people for support, but it was not forthcoming.

The opinions expressed last night were that the Retail Merchants Association would never win the support of all people in its campaign to improve Rushville, and that it might as well be discontinued and give way to a commercial organization in

FIRE STARTS FROM STOVE

Bravery of Carthage Woman Averts
a Disastrous Blaze.

Mrs. J. H. McCarty saw smoke issuing from the kitchen of her neighbor, Mrs. Sarah A. White early Wednesday afternoon, and found the ceiling, wall and floor in flames, says the Carthage Citizen. She screamed and finally Mrs. White, who was in another room, came to her assistance and together they extinguished the blaze. The fire started from gas in a hot plate on which Mrs. White was heating an iron. On account of high wind, the alarm was not heard outside of the house. Had the fire gotten a good start it would have been difficult to control.

WOMAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL ON COTMrs. Bert Trabue of Mays is in Precarious Condition Resulting From Accident Last April.

SUFFERED NERVOUS SHOCK

Because of a nervous shock received in an automobile accident last April, Mrs. Bert Trabue of Mays, who has been gradually growing worse, was taken to Indianapolis today to receive treatment in St. Vincent's hospital. Her condition is so serious that she had to be brought to Rushville on a cot, and taken from here to Indianapolis on the I. & C.

While driving near Dunreith with two children last April, Mrs. Trabue received the nervous shock which caused her present condition. When she discovered Frank Martin's automobile coming from behind, she started to get out of the closed buggy to lead the horse because the road was so narrow she was afraid to drive it. Before she had alighted from the buggy the automobile struck the buggy, but did no damage whatever, not even frightening the horse. Mrs. Trabue's arm was slightly bruised, but she has gradually grown worse with the nervous disorder which appeared after this mishap.

CARNIVAL SATURDAY NIGHT

Will Not Close Tonight as Was Expected.

It was announced today that the Catholic carnival will be held over Saturday night. It was the original intention that the carnival should close tonight, but the management decided that it was best to add one more night. The carnival this year is proving one of the best ever held and is attracting large crowds. The Edmunds & LeVelle vaudeville show is the feature attraction and continues to give a good entertainment.

'FLYING SQUADRON' DUE

Boosters of St. Paul Home-Coming to Visit Rushville.

A "Flying Squadron" of fifteen automobiles, advertising the St. Paul home-coming was scheduled to arrive in Rushville this afternoon at four-fifteen o'clock. The squadron carries a quartet of colored musicians to entertain the crowd. The advertisers expected to visit Greensburg, Sandusky, Milroy, Rushville, Homer, Manila and Shelbyville this afternoon. The home-coming will be held August 7 to 10.

HOLD REUNION IN INDIANAPOLISAnnual Gathering of Descendants of Jonathan Ball Attended by Rushville People.

HE WAS A PIONEER IN RUSH

A. L. Gary of This City Had Arduous
Task of Preparing the Family Tree.

The annual reunion of the Ball family was held Wednesday at Fairview Park, Indianapolis, and about fifty of the relatives of the pioneer Jonathan Ball were in attendance, among them being Dr. and Mrs. D. D. VanOsdol and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Gary and Mrs. Sarah Ball and daughter of this city.

Jonathan Ball was born in the State of Pennsylvania and migrated to Rush county in 1832, where he bought a quarter of a section of land in Posey township from the government at $1.25 per acre. At his death in the year 1867 he had gleaned enough wealth from his quarter of a section to leave each of his eight children one hundred and sixty acres of fine land.

Only one of the eight children is now living, that being Mrs. Emily Roberts of Indianapolis, who was his youngest child. Mrs. Roberts was formerly of Shelbyville, her husband, the late Rev. R. Roberts being pastor of the Methodist church in Shelbyville about twenty-five years ago.

Mr. Ball was a descendant of Mary Ball, the mother of the father of his country, George Washington.

It has been the custom for the past several years for the family to hold a reunion each summer in one of the parks in Indianapolis, and the one held Wednesday was one of the most pleasant and enjoyable of the many. The quarter of a section of land which Mr. Ball purchased when he came to Rush county is now owned by one of the Ball family.

A. L. Gary of this city, has by arduous labor constructed a family tree which gives the history of the Ball family from the fifteenth century until the present date. The work of constructing the tree took almost a year and the work is highly prized by the descendants of the pioneer.

MAY FORM CANTON HERE

Officials of Uniform Rank of I. O. O.
F. Coming Sunday.

A conference looking toward the organization here of a canton, the uniform rank section of the Odd Fellows lodge, will be held here Sunday by local Odd Fellows with Major General Joe A. Dehority of Elwood and General R. H. Hollywood of Indianapolis. All encampment members of the lodge are requested to meet in the Odd Fellows hall Sunday afternoon at one o'clock with the visiting officials of the canton.

30 BUSHELS TO ACRE.

William A. Ensweller, near Clarksburg, has a wheat yield that would hold place in the years of a good wheat crop, says the Greensburg News. He raises the "Red Wave" variety and for past two years has had a fine yield, while this year's crop shows a very fine grain and on a 30 acre field he threshed an even 900 bushels, a 30 bushel to the acre yield.

PECK PROMISES
MANY THRILLSFamous Aviator in Columbia Biplane
Will Give Sensational Flight
at Fair Grounds.

MERCHANTS EXPECT CROWD

Are Working For Success of Big Day—Ball Game Early in Afternoon.

The appearance here next Wednesday of Col. Paul Peck in his Columbia biplane is creating great interest and the merchants are looking for a large crowd. The entire county was billed today and every effort is being made to make the aviation meet a success. Col. Peck will make his flight at the Rush county fair grounds at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The I. & C. will run shuttle trains to and from the grounds to accommodate the crowds.

Peck will give an exhibition in Connersville and will fly from that city to the fair grounds. Another feature of the big day will be the ball game between Rushville and the Maxwell team. The game will be called early in order to let the people witness the airship flight. If Maunager Maibaugh is unsuccessful in securing the Newcastle team another fast team will be secured. It is planned to start the game about 1:30 o'clock and in this event the people will have no long wait at the fair grounds for the arrival of Aviator Peck.

The crowd attending the exhibition of Col. Peck is assured of some sensational flying as he is known as one of the most daring of aviators. Every time an aviator goes up into the air he is really taking his life into his own hands. The air is full of dangers at all times, such as "holes in the air," "air pockets" cross currents, up and down treads and other treacherous enemies of an aviator.

Any one of these conditions means almost sure death to the aviator unless he is constantly on his guard and on the outlook for them. When he flies into a "hole in the air" his machine suddenly drops down towards the earth and unless he happens to be at a great height, he and the machine is dashed to pieces. If the aviator is at a great elevation when it gets into a hole in the air, he can regain control of his machine after it falls for a certain distance and make a safe landing. If he flies in to a cross current, his machine is tossed one way than another, like a cork at sea. This is a critical time for the display of all his knowledge of air craft because he is fighting death itself. Some times he will be sailing along smoothly on an even keel when suddenly a treacherous up or down tread will strike his craft and before he can guard against it, his machine is turned upside down and falls to the earth at a tremendous rate. There is not one minute when the aviator is flying that his mind must not constantly be upon his work. He must at all times think of but one thing, and that is what air current he will next meet.

Many persons ask the aviator why they fly their machines when they

RECORD RYE CROP.

W. W. Scott, living on the Robert M. Innis farm a mile west of the city threshed five hundred bushels of rye from a sixteen-acre field. This is an average of better than thirty-two bushels to the acre and is said to be better than the usual yield.

know that they will probably be dashed to death. In almost every instance their answer has been that the flyer is a "fatalist" and they believe "what is to be will be." Another reason why they take their life into their own hands is that they are ambitious. Like members of other professions, aviators are always striving to secure new honors and records.

The spiral glide that has been the means of so many famous aviators' death will be performed by Aviator Peck. Every aviator knows how dangerous this spiral is, but it seems to hold a fascination over the sky-pilot and his exhibition is never complete without it.

ARRESTS GREENFIELD MAN

Sheriff Behout Takes Noland Walker on Wife Desertion Charge.

Noland Walker of Greenfield was arrested yesterday at Carthage by Sheriff Behout on a warrant from Hancock county charging wife and child desertion. Walker was unable to furnish bond and was handed over to the sheriff of Hancock county. The accused man had been in Carthage for some time past employed in the strawboard works. He is a brother of Carl Walker, who was recently sentenced to Plainfield by Judge Blair.

JUDGE BLAIR AND
AUTOS NEVER JIBEAdditional Proof is Found That he is Hoodoo to Machine in Which he Rides.

HIS EXPERIENCE ON-TRIP HERE

Judge Blair admitted that he might rake together enough to buy an automobile, but that he wouldn't have one. Some people might think it is "sour grapes," but Judge Blair has the proof that he and automobiles never did get along. Besides the numerous accidents in which he has been already, the following from the Shelbyville Democrat serves as additional evidence:

Dr. L. C. Sammons and Judge Alonzo Blair spent six of the hottest hours of their lives late Wednesday afternoon in an attempt to get to Rushville to attend a fine dinner that was given there last evening by John Kiplinger, a prominent attorney of the city, to the members of the Rush county bar and a number of other friends. Just beyond Rays Crossing the doctor's machine in which they were making the trip blew a tire and the doctor worked with it three hours in the boiling sun to get the machine in running order again and when he succeeded after almost exhausting himself they were afraid to undertake to finish the trip on account of the weakened condition of the tire. Besides they would have been late as the dinner was scheduled to be served, beginning at six o'clock. Reluctantly the men headed for Shelbyville but a few miles out the tire went to pieces again and they had to wait by the roadside till another could be taken to them from this city. They reached home again at nine o'clock Wednesday night.

HOW T. A. PRESS
MISREPRESENTSIndianapolis Sun, a Leeds Paper Alludes to Marvelous Political Alliance in Rush County.

POINTS TO IT AS SENSATION

Calls Attention That Chairman is Principal Stockholder in Mc-Farlan Automobile Co.

As an illustration of the misrepresentation used by the Roosevelt press to mislead the voters, the following story is clipped from the Indianapolis Sun:

Politicians of the State were startled Tuesday by the announcement that C. A. McFarlan of Rushville, former right hand man of James Watson and a principal stockholder in the McFarlan Automobile Company of Connersville, and E. H. Schultz, wealthy stock raiser and former Democratic chairman of Franklin county, have accepted the appointments as county chairmen for Rush and Franklin counties, respectively, offered them by Rudolph G. Leeds, executive committeeman of the Sixth congressional district for the progressive party.

That the progressive party is growing with the people and that its scope is not confined to disgruntled Republicans was probably never better shown than by the announcement that these two men have allied themselves with the movement.

McFarlan, besides being one of the prominent manufacturers of the State, and a man of considerable means, has been interested in politics more or less for a number of years. He is certainly no novice at the game and the standpatters will have all they can do to fight him in Rush county where he will have full charge.

Rush county especially has been a problem because of the alleged strength of the Watson element in it. The defection of McFarlan, however, will do much to counteract this influence.

MANY COMPLAINTS
ABOUT STRAY STOCKPolice Issue Warning For Last Time and Say Animals Must Not Run at Large.

IS COVERED BY CITY LAW

The police have received numerous complaints about live stock being permitted to run at large in the city, and unless it is stopped arrests will follow. Chief McAllister says he has warned some people for the last time. He was called to North Spencer street this afternoon. Section I of ordinance No. 129, which covers this violation is as follows:

"That any person being the owner of or having the care, custody or control of any horse, mare or gelding, bull, steer, cow or calf, hog, pig, sheep or any other domestic animal, who shall suffer or allow the same to run at large unattended within the corporate limits of said city shall be fined, forfeit and pay to the said city any sum not exceeding ten dollars for each day such animal shall be allowed to run at large or unattended."

The other section of the ordinance gives the police the power to take the animal to the city pound.

First Woman Wireless Operator Licensed by U. S. Government.

WOMAN LICENSED TO OPERATE A WIRELESS

Government Doesn't Agree With Recent Jury Verdict.

Washington, July 26.—A lot of discussion between legislators and prominent women of the city was caused by news of the finding of a coroner's jury in Illinois which investigated a recent railroad accident in that state, with a loss of thirteen lives. The jury's recommendation that only men should be employed in railroad towers because a woman's judgment was uncertain in a crisis involving human life, which was part of the findings, caused a stir.

The news of the action of the coroner's jury had hardly reached here, though, when the department of commerce and labor announced that one woman already has received a certificate from the federal government authorizing her to operate the wireless on an ocean liner. Furthermore, this woman, it was said, had already secured a job and left San Francisco on a steamship as the wireless operator.

Miss Mabel Kelso is the possessor of the only wireless certificate. Miss Kelso has been assigned to the Mariposa, a liner which now travels between Puget sound and Alaska and which was formerly engaged in the San Francisco-Honolulu traffic.

ABLE PLEA FOR SOCIAL HYGIENE

The Duty of Parents Plainly Pointed Out.

DOUBLE STANDARD DOOMED

In a Lecture to Women at Lafayette's Health Educational Week, State Pathologist Declares That the Time Is Coming When a Double Standard of Morals For Men and Women No Longer Will Be Recognized.

Lafayette, Ind., July 26.—"The time is coming when a double standard of morals for men and women will no longer be recognized," declared Dr. Ada Schweitzer of Indianapolis, assistant state pathologist, in addressing an audience of 500 Lafayette women at the Jefferson high school building. Dr. Schweitzer was one of the speakers at Lafayette's health educational week and her lecture on "Social Hygiene" was for women. She made a stirring plea to the boys and girls concerning the care of their bodies, and said it was the duty of parents not to keep the young people in ignorance of facts of the utmost importance to them.

"The so-called industrial emancipation of women," she said, "has so revolutionized her relations to social and industrial life that a readjustment becomes necessary in order that her moral equilibrium may be preserved. The young girl who becomes a factor in the industrial life of the community is exposed to temptations of which her grandmother never dreamed, and of which her mother knows only by hearsay. Because of the wide liberty allowed the American girl in all ranks of society, she must be given a rational basis of thought and action. A proper conception of her own nature and of her responsibility to the race will form a basis of choice of amusement or even employment. The proper instructors of the young are the parents and when through prudery, ignorance or neglect they fail to do their duty, then the duty devolves on the teacher, minister or family physician."

IN RECEIVER'S HANDS

An Indiana Traction Line Admits Its Insolvency.

Bluffton, July 26.—As a direct result of the head-on collision between two cars on the Marion, Bluffton & Eastern traction line, near Marion, a few weeks ago, which cost the lives of four people and injury to sixty or more, the Union Savings and Trust company of this city was appointed receiver of the road.

The appointment of the receiver followed a suit asking for $4,000 which was filed in the Wells circuit court by Abram Simmons and Frank C. De'ev, attorneys for the road since it started operations six years ago. H. C. Arnold, president, and R. F. Cummins, secretary, acknowledged that the company was insolvent, and asked the court for a receiver that the operation of the road might be continued. In their complaint Simmons and Dalley alleged that they had been employed by the traction company for six years at a salary of $600 a year, and they had never received any money.

Woman Seriously Burned.

Wabash, Ind., July 26.—While preparing a meal Mrs. Harry Pratt was overcome with the heat and losing consciousness fell on the stove over which she was working. In falling, both of her arms were thrust into the gas blaze, burning the flesh from both. Mrs. Pratt's daughter, who was in an adjoining room, was attracted by the noise and, rushing to the stove, rescued her mother. Attending physicians fear that the victim may be crippled for life.

Alleged Counterfeiter Taken.

Evansville, Ind., July 26.—A man giving his name as Sam Smith, but who is supposed to be named Frazer, was arrested at Rockport on the charge of passing counterfeit money. Smith attempted to run from Marshal Brown when arrested, and the latter fired several shots at him as he fled. Several molds and some metal were found in Smith's valise. Smith says he lives at Maceo, Ky.

Police Clerk Missing.

Indianapolis, July 26.—A small shortage in accounts to his office at central police station has been discovered by Superintendent of Police Hyland since the disappearance of Robert Kinsey, his secretary. No word has been heard of Kinsey, who left last Saturday morning, either at central station or by his wife.

TROUBLE OVER THAT BATTLESHIP CAUCUS

House Democrats On the Verge of a Split.

Washington, July 26.—As the result of the party caucus Wednesday night in declaring against additions to the battleship fleet, a serious split in the Democratic organization of the house of representatives is now threatened. The prediction is made that before many days have passed Speaker Clark and Leader Underwood will be fighting one another. Speaker Clark voted against the battleship program. Leader Underwood voted in favor of battleships. The charge is made by Democrats that Mr. Clark, angered by the failure of Mr. Underwood to support Mr. Clark in the Baltimore convention, has decided to join issues with the majority leader.

The trouble among the Democrats is not restricted to Messrs. Clark and Underwood. It extends throughout the entire membership. For example, Representative Sulzer of New York, an advocate of a big navy, charges that the roll call on which Democrats were recorded Wednesday night, was spirited away by members who were disinclined to show their hands.

BROKE THROUGH HEDGE OF LIES

Rosenthal Mystery Gradually Is Unfolding.

GETTING DOWN TO BASIC FACTS

Alibi and Cunning Stratagems Designed by Murderers of Herman Rosenthal to Throw Off Pursuit Are Being Uncovered and Broken Down as the Inquiry Into Alleged Police Graft Conspiracy Progresses.

New York, July 26.—When the district attorney drew from William Shapiro and "Boob" Walker the story of how the killing was planned and of how spies darted between the Metropole and the murder headquarters in Bridge Webber's poker rooms with bulletins of Rosenthal's movements, he broke through the hedge of lies and alibis and cunning stratagems erected by the murderers of Herman Rosenthal.

He took a long step ahead in the investigation by the grand jury to determine whether a partnership has existed between policemen and gamblers, as Rosenthal charged in the affidavit against Becker, when Police Lieutenant Daniel E. Costigan, "the honest cop," as they call him in the department, told the grand jury that gambling could not endure in the tenderloin or anywhere else without police protection.

Lieutenant Charles Becker, the most important figure in the dual inquiries, was sent to the criminal courts building by Commissioner Waldo with the plain warning that if he refused to go into the grand jury room he would be suspended. It is known also that if it is proved to the commissioner that Bald Jack Rose communicated in any way with Becker after the murder, Becker's suspension will follow.

Shapiro's statement supplied the district attorney with hitherto unknown facts concerning the murder. Shapiro says that he took Jack Rose and Harry Vallon and Sam Schepps to Webber's poker rooms a little before Rosenthal was killed; that after the three had conferred upstairs, he drove Schepps and Vallon and another man whose name has not yet come out in the case to the Metropole. Rose did not travel in the gray car, but was on his way to the Metropole several minutes after Rosenthal fell dead in front of that hotel.

And here is one of the most interesting of the cleverly dovetailed movements of the plotters. The men that Shapiro drove from the Metropole after the revolver had settled forever the question as to whether the gambler would inform further, were not the same men, with one exception, that Shapiro drove to the hotel. The exception was the mysterious figure that accompanied Schepps and Vallon to the Considine resort. He was one of the men who fired a bullet into Rosenthal's head and he stroiled back to the gray car with a smoking pistol in his hand. As for the other murderers, Shapiro says, they squirmed and twisted away to safety through the shadows and the crowds.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

Treasure-Trove Ship Is About Due at Cocos Island.

Port Lima, Costa Rica, July 26.—The government has ordered a company of soldiers to Cocos island to await the arrival of an English-American treasure-trove ship that may bear away the long buried millions of the pirate Bombosa.

The expedition has a commission from this government to dig up the treasure upon a royalty basis. Two young women, Miss Barrie Telly and Miss Georgiana Davies are the heads of the party.

The supposed secret of the treasure was given by a patriarchal half-breed during a former visit to the island by the women. Miss Telly administered to the half-breed while he was dying, and it is said he bequeathed her a map left by his ancestors showing the location of the treasure.

Treasure Uncovered After Centuries.

St. Petersburg, July 26.—While peasants were digging in a field in the village of Malai recently, they unearthed an old chest containing treasure to the value of $500,000. The treasure was in gold and silver coins of the Fourth century and several gold and silver vessels.

Dunbar, Pa., Damaged to the Extent of a Million Dollars.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 26.—The town of Dunbar, sixty miles south of here, that was swept by a series of cloudbursts, is practically a wreck. The county officials estimate that nearly a million dollars damage was done there. Eleven business houses were swept away, seventy-five residences were destroyed, streets torn up and bridges carried out. The Pennsylvania has a thousand men at work repairing its roadbed, and it is hoped trains will get into part of the district today. At least nineteen lives were lost there by the inundation of mines.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

LESSON FOR JULY 28

THE WHEAT AND THE TARES.

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 13:24-30; 36-43.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Gather up first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them; but gather the wheat into my barn." Matt. 13:30.

The thirteenth chapter of Matthew's gospel is the great kingdom chapter of the Bible. Seven parables in this chapter give us each of seven aspects or applications of the principles of the kingdom. In this lesson we are taught the mixed character of the kingdom and also of the ultimate separation of two classes of which it is composed. "A man," v. 24, goes out to sow good seed in his field. This man we are told in v. 37, is the Son of Man, and elsewhere that the field is the world, the hearts of men. Then followed the propagating stage, that period over which man has no control. During this period while men ate and slept awaiting the time for cultivation and of harvest, the enemy of men's souls came and sowed tares, the common darnel which so closely resembles wheat in its earliest stages. After this propagating period had passed the man and his servants went out one day to find in their field evidence that another had also sown seed. The test of every life is the fruit produced. During these earlier stages the tares had looked so nearly like the wheat as not to be readily distinguished, but now that the harvest time approaches the difference is all too evident. It is significant from this parable that no blame is laid upon the servants that they should have allowed the two to grow up during this first stage. Surprise, anger and disappointment stirred the hearts of the servants when they discovered the mixed character of the approaching harvest. The master, however, clears them of all blame, for, said he, "Our enemy hath done this." Not an enemy, as the King James version has it. Satan is ubiquitous, but the Son of God is greater than he, see I. Peter 3:22.

Parables He Taught.

If the servants had sought to uproot the tares they would in all likelihood have done more damage than good, though this does not imply any conflict with Jesus' words as found in Matthew 5:29, 30. The seed had the same environment and in God's good time the separation should take place. So "let both grow together" until both be fully developed. Then he will say to the reapers, gather first the tares and burn them, but gather the wheat into my barn. Notice the tares did not evolve into wheat. Like begets like. Gather into bundles is the command. If we sin together, we must expect to suffer together. The wheat was ripe for full salvation, blessing and a further usefulness, while the tares were ripe only for destruction.

After teaching these parables, of which this is but one, Jesus sent the multitude away and more fully and completely taught his disciples the inner meaning of this parable. The field is the world, and if we ask we shall have the heaven for our inheritance and the uttermost part of the world as a possession (Ps. 2:8). The good seed are the sons of the kingdom, but the tares are the sons (children) of the evil one. Both the sons of the good and the sons of the bad grow from, and develop out of seed, the sons of the kingdom from the good seed.

We must remember the three lessons we have been studying. The first concerned the nature of the seed and the soil; the second deals with the mystery of the growth and development of the kingdom, whereas this lesson has to do with the mixed.

World the Field.

As the Psalmist puts it (1:5), "The ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, e. g., has no standing, nor sinners (abide) in the congregation of the righteous." It is not our place to gather the tares into bundles. God will send forth reapers (v. 30) and his reapers are the angels (v. 39). The fact is we are here warned against useless or profitless activity. Ours is to sow the right seed and then stand back and let God work. We are not even responsible for any process of separation, for God will take care of his own and in his own time will send forth his reapers who will do what we would make sorry work of attempting to do. How often we see men zealously attempting the separation process during the propagating and developing period, only to uproot the wheat with the darnel. Evil, we are clearly shown, will not gradually disappear from the world, but on the contrary it will grow, develop and bear along beside the wheat until "the harvest." After the harvest it will be all too clear which is good and which is bad. The language of Jesus is graphic—"cast and fling" express indignation and contempt; "furnace of fire" denotes the fierceness of the torment of punishment, and the "gnashing of teeth" and the "wailing" is a terrible picture of anguish and despair. As against this, he tells us that the righteous shall shine forth free from all cloud or shadow.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS.

The Wheat and the Tares. Matt. xiii:24-30, 36-43.

Golden Text—Gather ye together first the tares and bind them in bundles to burn them, but gather the wheat into my barn. Matt. xiii:30.

(1.) Verses 24-25—What does the kingdom of heaven here stand for?
(2.) Would you say, and why, that Jesus here meant that the church as a visible society on earth contains both good and bad people?

(3.) What is the difference in the results as between good seed and bad seed as suggested in this parable?

(4.) What in this parable stands for wheat and what for tares?

(5.) What resemblance is there between the wheat and the tares?

(6.) If Christ stands for the man who sowed "good seed," whom does the enemy stand for who sowed the tares?

(7.) What chance would Satan have to sow tares if people kept wide awake?

(8.) Verse 26—Can "tares," or sin, ever be regarded as another form of good? Give your reasons.

(9.) Is it possible, or not, and why, for sin to produce good results?

(10.) Verse 27—Who are those who generally claim to God because of sin in the church?

(11.) Verses 28-29—Should a Christian church or not, and why, expel all those members who are admittedly living sinful lives? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(12.) There used to be frequent trials of members in evangelical churches for immorality. When did you last learn of such a trial and how is it that they are now so infrequent?

(13.) Verse 30—What will be the difference in that great day between the doom of a sinner in the church and a sinner in the world?

(14.) What will be the fate of the finally impenitent sinner?

(15.) What will be the final condition of all true Christians?

(16.) Verses 36-37—Who is the sower of the good seed?

(17.) In what sense is Christ the only sower of good seed?

(18.) Verses 38-40—What results do wicked people accomplish in the world?

(19.) When and what will the harvest be?

(20.) Verses 40-43—Does Jesus mean that the literal tares are burned in the fire or that sinners will be? Give your reason.

The Worth of the Kingdom. Matt. xiii:44-53.

TOPIC FOR JULY 28.

Missionary Progress in North America. Acts 2:1-21.

Ours is a Christian nation, but there is still plenty of missionary work to be done at home. Our argument for Christianity in foreign lands is unsound unless we are also trying to spread the gospel here at home.

Home missionary progress depends on the prosperity of foreign missions. God does not bless the society, or the church, or the nation that is interested only in its own doorkstep. The world-wide vision is needed to clear our eyes to view the problems here at home.

Few persons are privileged to go to the foreign field as missionaries. Most people must confine their foreign missionary service to prayer and money. But every Christian should be a home missionary. In every community, within reach of every church or Christian Endeavor society, there is abundant opportunity for definite home missionary activity.

The Christian Endeavor movement has been a powerful influence in the missionary progress of this continent. The following words of William Shaw, general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, give an idea of what is being done by this great organization for the conservation of our national ideals.

"Christian Endeavor has placed the young people at the front in all movements for temperance, civic righteousness and moral reform.

"It has given to the young people a new vision of the churches' obligation to obey the great commission, 'Go ye into all the world.'

"The scope of the work includes Christian citizenship, with its emphasis upon temperance, civic righteousness and social peace. It stands for training in social service, for the improvement of conditions of labor and the rational use of the Lord's day for rest and worship.

"Humane work is included, the opening of rooms for reading and recreation, the establishment of gymnasia and athletic fields, the promotion of a 'safe and sane' Fourth of July, and the helpful observance of other holidays.

"Fresh air work, immigrant work, hospital work and work in other public institutions are features of the movement everywhere."

Under Difficulties

"This is something like it," said Young Borgus with satisfaction.

"It sure is!" agreed Miss Clancy. She shrugged her shoulders as she glanced back at the lace curtains of the boarding house window. Inside the parlor the gas glared hotly, lighting up the hair wreath above the mantel and glittering on the gaudy vases beneath.

"Now, that it's got warm enough to sit outdoors," pursued young Borgus, stretching his long legs over three steps below him, "we can shake the parlor in there! Gee, but it was fierce last winter, never to get a word with you without a lot of old women butting in with, 'Excuse me, but I am looking for my crochet work! Lovely evening, isn't it, Mr. Borgus?' or glaring at us for being there at all! Or having callers of their own! Nice, chatty conversations we could carry on that way, couldn't we? I—"

"Oh," said a voice behind them as the screen door creaked, "is some one out here? Oh, it's you, Miss Clancy— and Mr. Borgus, of course! Ahem—not that I meant anything, at all! I suppose I've interrupted your conversation, but it was so hot in there—I can go right in."

"Don't think of it, Mrs. Miner," said Miss Clancy, airily, rising. "You can have the steps and welcome. We are just going for a walk anyhow. Come on, Jimmy!"

"Wouldn't that frost you!" exclaimed young Borgus after they had proceeded a safe distance. "Just wanted to find out what we were talking about! Catch her sitting out there by herself! We'll circle the block and see!"

When they got near enough again to see the steps young Borgus gave a low gurgle of triumph. The steps were empty.

"Come on," he said. "Let's go get some ice cream. Just as sure as we go back there somebody else'll come out!"

In a sympathetic sort of disgust they sought the brilliantly lighted candy store on the corner and found a vacant table.

"Strawb'ree for me," said Miss Clancy. "I just wonder, Jimmy, that you haven't got tired before this and quit me. It's fierce, going to see a girl that hasn't a parlor of her own to entertain company in! We've sure been chased around enough by them other boarders!"

"Well, were's away from 'em right now," said young Borgus. "Let's make the most of it. I—"

"Why, the idea!" broke in a high-pitched voice at the next table. "If it isn't Miss Clancy! Oh—how do you do, Mr. Borgus!" There was an arch inclination to the greeting that was intended to carry the idea that the speaker appreciated the sentimental situation.

"How do, Miss Binks?" said Miss Clancy stonily.

Miss Binks was forty, dressed like twenty and fondly thought she looked like sixteen. She made eyes at young Borgus, who turned purple. Then she arose with her plate of ice cream and fluttered into the vacant chair at their table. "It's so lonesome by myself," she purred apologetically. "I was so thirsty I just had to come out after something cold, but I shrink from going out in the evening unescorted. It's more sociable this way, don't you think?"

"Oh, my, yes!" agreed Miss Clancy with sarcasm that was totally lost. "Sorry we're just through. We've got an engagement to meet some friends!"

"Let me slip back and stick some cold poison in her ice cream," growled young Borgus throatily after they had escaped. "She's the limit! Another second and she'd have asked to go walking with us! Let's go down to the little park. It's only a few blocks away!"

He tucked Miss Clancy's hand in the crook of his arm and they walked on with regained cheerfulness. It was not so bad to be out in the dusk with the faint echoes of a street piano in the air and automobiles whirling by. Presently their feet crunched the gravel of the walk that ran around the little park and they strolled on until they found a bench that was unoccupied. A lilac bush in bloom waved above them.

"Gee!" breathed young Borgus with a vast exhaling of breath signifying peace of mind at last.

He laid one hand over Miss Clancy's and she did not remove him. Presently he turned his head toward her, but the words on his lips died in thin air. A ponderous footed person engulfed in alcoholic aura swayed toward their bench and dropped massively on the other end and leered at them. "Bu'ful night?" he asked, ap pealingly.

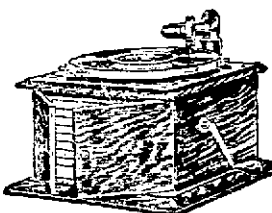

Young Borgus and Miss Clancy did not speak till they were a block away. Then they halted and young Borgus spoke. "See here," he said, in the desperate tones of a man at bay, "I wasn't going to say anything till I got a boost in my pay, but I'm likely to blow up and remove a few people from the landscape if this goes on much longer! If you can scrape along for a while on what I'm getting I'll speak for a flat tomorrow! Our own parlor—think of it! And our own porch! Will you?"

Miss Clancy wept openly. "Will I?" she repeated. "Why, it would just be heaven!"—Chicago Daily News.

Third Term Dangers.

That the American people are irrevocably opposed to a third term of the Presidency is evidenced by facts of comparatively recent occurrence, which demonstrate clearly that the trend of public opinion on this important matter is unmistakable, and the interpretation is as plain as anything could possibly be.

A third term agitation for General Grant began almost immediately upon his election to a second term of the Presidency. It started in New York, in which State the friends of Grant, in control of all the government offices, lead by United States Senator Roscoe Conkling, adopted this declaration written by Conkling:

"Resolved, That the administration of General Grant has been distinguished for achievements in domestic and foreign policy unsurpassed in the history of the country."

General John A. Dix had been elected Governor of New York in 1872 by 51,825 Republican plurality. As Chief Executive of the State he served the people with great ability, integrity and patriotism. Senator Conkling believed that the commanding prestige of Governor Dix would result in his re-election in 1874 by an increased majority over that of 1872, even under the thinly veiled movement for a third term, thereby securely gaining the first point in the third term conspiracy. The patriotic General Dix was accordingly renominated.

Thurloew Weed told General Dix that he must positively prohibit the passage of any resolution indorsing Grant's administration; that such a resolution would be fatal to his success at the general election, and he said: "If they persist in passing it you must tell them to get some one else as their candidate for Governor." If the Tribune did not openly concur in what the venerable and sagacious Weed had said, its distinguished editor, Whitelaw Reid, personally expressed similar views to General Dix.

A few weeks later the Liberal Republicans of New York met in convention, and although they made no nominations, under the inspiration of ex-Governor Fenton, General Merritt, Mr. Littlejohn, Mr. Dorsheimer, Hon Charles E. Hughes, Dr. Swinburne, Fred Conkling, General Cochrane and others, they resolved.

"That we declare our uncompromising hostility to any pretensions toward perpetuating power in the hands of the same person beyond a second term; such pretensions deserve, and should receive the indignant condemnation of the people."

A week or two later, the Democrats met in convention and declared:

"The Presidency of the United States is a public trust not a private perquisite, and there should be no third term of it."

Under this resolution General Hayes defeated Governor Allen for Governor of that State in 1875. Similar resolutions were passed by Republicans in other States in their conventions, and the results were of the most gratifying character. In Massachusetts the Democratic plurality of the year previous was overcome and a Republican Governor elected by a large plurality. In New York the Republican gain was 35,507. In Ohio the Democratic plurality of 17,202 cast in 1874 was overcome by a Republican plurality of 5,544 secured.

The advocacy of a third term for General Grant in 1874 resulted in the election of but 10 Republican and 17 Democratic Congressmen from Pennsylvania at the election of that year. Two years later with the Republican party committed against a third term, the Republicans of Pennsylvania elected 17 Congressmen and the Democrats but 10 members.

At the election held in Pennsylvania in 1875 the "unalterable opposition to the Presidency of any person for a third term" not only resulted in overcoming the Democratic plurality of 4,679 given the year before, but it secured a large plurality for the candidates of the Republican party.

The loss of nearly all of the northern States by the Republicans in 1874, owing to their endorsement of General Grant for a third term, and in the declaration in 1875 that there should be no third term of the Presidency—these same States all being carried by the Republicans—led to the passage of the following resolution in the National House of Representatives, on the 15th of December, 1875, by a vote of 233 to 18 against it:

"Resolved, That in the opinion of this House the precedent established by Washington and other Presidents of the United States, in retiring from the presidential office after their second term, has become, by universal concurrence, a part of our Republican system of government, and that any departure from this time-honored custom would be unwise, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

A Bitter Arraignment.

In an editorial of Friday the Washington Herald bitterly arraigns the Indiana leaders of the third party movement, and says that they are playing into the hands of the democrats. After a discussion of the general conditions the editorial reads as follows:

"The third party movement is gaining no strength—desertions are coming with each day. The men who are now waging the third party contest are not men to be depended upon—not men calculated to inspire confidence. Gaze upon Edwin M. Lee and Horace G. Stilwell, for instance! They are shining examples of men to get out and talk clean politics, don't you think? Lee has nothing to his credit save that once he was a wide open mayor of a wide open southern Indiana town; that while chairman of the Indiana republican state committee he became a burden to the state ticket and through his flirtations with the democrats caused the ticket to go down into defeat. Among his latest "honest" acts was the giving out of an infamous interview in Washington City after he had been refused a political appointment by the president and his coming from the office of a great trust representative. This man Stilwell, who is known over the State as a traction lobbyist, made his brags a few years ago that he would corrupt the voters of the Eighth district and win the congressional nomination away from George Cromer. But the people of Stilwell's home recognized in him an unfit man and refused to commission him with authority in congress. Now he heaps abuse upon Mr. Taft. Why? Because Mr. Taft has the moral courage to warn the people against the lobbyist; because Stilwell sees in this new move a chance to fleece the unsuspecting follower out of his coin, for it is coin that Stilwell is seeking.

"Stilwell and Lee are working hand in hand with Thomas Taggart in his effort to befuddle the minds of Republicans and turn the State and nation over to the democrats for another season of extravagance as under Governor Marshall, and starvation as under Mr. Cleveland. Stilwell and Lee are the sort of men who would sell the souls of their friends for a dirty dollar, and every indication at this time points to the fact that they will enrich their purses from the coffers of the eastern trusts upon whose backs the lash of the Taft administration has fallen in an effort to enforce the law of the land."

Is Woman Cool?

This is the time of year when men envy women most—they look so cool in their draperies of white. But, are they really cool?

The man's ideal for summer comfort is a negligee shirt and he dares it negligee trousers, and to prow about countess and collarless. He is hot, and he looks it, and he doesn't care who knows it, in fact he keeps up a ceaseless march to thirst-quenchers that he imagines will cool his fevered blood.

But a woman—why, on the hottest day, she comes down town dressed with a care and precision that only a woman can possess. We will not attempt to describe her white and flowering draperies, chiefly because we cannot, but they are spotless and impeccable. Her face is free from a suggestion of perspiration and if she ever feels constrained to dab on the inevitable face powder, she certainly does it in a manner that escapes the vigilance of the men. She is the personification of coolness, an iceberg defied. It matters not whether she tilts the scale at ninety pounds or at two hundred an atmosphere of about two degrees above freezing seems to hover about her.

In fact, women's entire summer attitude is entirely different from that of man. She is airy, fairy—and she looks cool. The thermometer may have gone aeroplaning, but the lady in white perspires not, at least not so as to be visible to the masculine eye. "But, is a woman really cool in the summer time? One who had the hardihood to ask one lady that, and she replied at once, no, but in a manner that indicated it would get quite hot in that neighborhood?"

Is a woman really cool in summer?

Call For Progressive Party Convention

Pursuant to the call of the chairman of the Provisional Committee of the Progressive Party of Indiana, those voters of Rush county who desire to assist in the formation of this party are urged to meet in that convention at the assembly room of the court house at Rushville, Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. o'clock to elect twelve delegates to the Progressive party State convention to be held at Indianapolis August 1.

At the State convention candidates for State offices will be nominated, delegates to the National convention and National electors will be elected and a platform adopted that defines the principles the Progressive party will fight for for the people of Indiana. All voters in accord with this call are urged to attend the mass convention Saturday afternoon at Rushville, July 26th, 1912.

LABEL SUIT THREATENED

Grownups at Sunday School Picnic
Say They Won Game.

The Daily Republican is facing a libel suit. It stated yesterday that the boys base ball team defeated the grownups at the St. Paul M. E. Sunday school picnic yesterday, 9 to 6. The members of the old men's team say their reputation has been assailed as the result of this false report being sent broadcast and they want redress. They declare that they defeated the boys ignominiously and that they do not want the facts misrepresented. The score is in doubt. Everybody kept it.

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess will show a Vitagraph for the first picture tonight. "The Greater Love" is the title of the drama. Edna Fisher is seen in the principal part. "The Swastika" is an exciting Melies Indian drama. A feature Lubin "A Mexican Romance" will be shown Saturday night.

The Portola has the usual feature show tonight with three reels of pictures. "The Sheriff and His Man" is an Essanay western drama. It is an unique picture featuring G. M. Anderson. "Pathe Weekly No. 20" shows many interesting scenes and some subjects in connection with the Titanic disaster. The last film is a Vitagraph drama, "The Man Under the Bed." Good music is on the bill.

The joyous tented show is coming to town and young America is all agog over the happy announcement. Sun Brothers' Shows are heavily billed to exhibit here on Thursday, August 22.

This show is now on its twentieth annual tour and is meeting with tremendous success, and the show is giving the greatest of satisfaction.

Many people denounce the tented show and think that they are an evil that should never be allowed to exhibit, one of the arguments being that they carry immense sums out of the country that never come back, and another that they have a bad influence morally.

As far as the moral influences are concerned, we've all been going to shows all our lives, and how many of us have had our morals corrupted therefrom? Of course, now and then a show comes along that carries a criminal and corruptive element, but the best shows, and those which are more largely attended, are usually devoid of this.

It is often the case that those who denounce and tented show will go to an opera or theatre time and again, spending from $1 to $2.50, to be entertained, and yet they don't believe in the tent show, which only comes once a year and furnishes entertainment and amusement for the country people who haven't the opportunity to go to the theatre. People who work year in and year out, need some sort of amusement occasionally for recreation and pleasure, which are essential for health and happiness.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license was issued late yesterday to Mark Luther Bundrant, colored, and Ethel Heathcock.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Oldridge of Indianapolis came today for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Beale. Mr. Oldridge is a cousin of Mrs. Beale's and is an instructor in the Metropolitan school of music in Indianapolis.

BUYS WEAKLY BAKERY.

It was announced today that Bert Ormes had purchased Walla Weakly's bakery, which was only recently rebuilt after having been damaged by fire a short time after it had been constructed. Mr. Ormes will take possession next Monday.

MARRIED YESTERDAY.

Miss Ethel Heathcock and Mark L. Bundrant were married by the Rev. W. S. Rollins, pastor in charge at the Second M. E. church yesterday afternoon at the home of the bridegroom's brother, H. Bundrant. A reception was held at the home of Mr. Bundrant's father last night.

Mrs. Wilbur John of near Manilla, who has been under the care of Dr. G. I. Inlow, her brother, of Blue Ridge, and Dr. J. D. Green of Manilla was taken to the Methodist hospital at Indianapolis yesterday. She is believed to be suffering from gall stones, but an operation will not be performed unless it is deemed absolutely necessary. Mrs. John's many friends will hope that she will be speedily restored to health.

James F. Castello of the Grain & Hay company visited Mrs. Ada Ball yesterday on his way home to Cincinnati.

WOOL REVISION HAS NEW SHOW

La Follette Wins Signal Victory In the Senate.

PUSHES OLD BILL THROUGH

After a struggle lasting from noon to nearly midnight the Wisconsin Senator Forces the Adoption of the Identical Bill Introduced by Him at the Last Session and Which Was Vetoed by the President.

Washington, July 26.—Senator La Follette emerged as the successful champion of tariff revision after a struggle in the senate lasting from noon until nearly midnight. The little Wisconsin senator seized upon an opening offered him by the regular Republicans and Democrats and forced the adoption by the senate of the identical La Follette wool revision bill that was introduced by him at the last session and passed by the senate. This was the measure that served as the basis of compromise last session with the Democrats of the house, and the indications are that it will be passed by Underwood and his colleagues in sending the wool revision bill to the White House.

Wisconsin Senator Elated.

Every effort was made by the regular Republicans in the senate to block the passage of the La Follette bill, and the Democrats, having seen their own measure go down to defeat as the result of a trick turned by the regulars, at the last minute joined hands with La Follette and voted to put his measure through. The Wisconsin statesman was highly elated and the Taft supporters were correspondingly downcast. This turn of affairs will put the president in an embarrassing situation. He vetoed the La Follette-Underwood compromise wool bill at the last session on the ground that the tariff board had not made its report. Since then the tariff board has handed down its findings and the president, if he vetoes a wool bill this time, will have to do it after considering the merits of the measure. If the president signs the bill the Republican insurgents and the Democrats will carry off the glory. The La Follette bill as it passed the senate provides for a duty of 35 per cent on raw wool with duties ranging from 40 to 55 per cent on the manufactures of wool.

President Taft's friends have acknowledged that the duty of 35 per cent proposed by La Follette on raw wool corresponded pretty closely to the findings of the tariff board, but they have contended that the rates proposed by him on manufactures were too low. The compromise measure evolved by Underwood and La Follette at the session as it finally went to the White House provided 25 per cent on raw wool and corresponding reductions on manufactures. The Democrats expect that about the same rate may be agreed upon in the present situation.

Snatched Victory Out of the Air.

La Follette snatched victory out of the air at the very moment when the Republican regulars seemed to have routed the Democrats and won a notable triumph. After an all-day debate, Senator Penrose, chairman of the finance committee, threw the Democrats into confusion by introducing a wool revision bill based on the findings of the tariff board. This measure provided for reduction of from 10 per cent on the highly finished cloths, to approximately 125 per cent on lower grades and a substantial reduction on other woolen manufactures. This Penrose bill was adopted after a bitter fight as a substitute for the Underwood house bill, by a vote of 34 to 32. This vote, however, had been taken in committee of the whole and La Follette, seizing upon the opportunity, quickly threw out the bill which he had introduced last year, and the Democrats rallied to his support. The vote on the La Follette bill as a substitute for the Penrose bill, which had been substituted for the Democratic bill, was 39 to 27. All Democrats voted for this, and so did the insurgent Republicans except Bourne of Oregon. When the roll was called on the final passage of the bill, the lonely Mr. Bourne changed his vote and sided with the other insurgents. The scene in the senate while the votes were being taken were the most exciting that have been witnessed since the stirring times of a year ago.

LITTLE GIRL SLAIN BY BOLD MURDERER

A Maine Neighborhood Stirred By Cruel Crime.

Bangor, Me., July 26.—Aided by hundreds of farmers, the Penobscot county authorities have begun a general search for clues which might trace the slayer of fourteen-year-old Naomi Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phineas Mitchell of North Carmel. The girl's body was found in a clump of underbrush in a field near the roadway along which she was walking on her way home from a grocery store. The girl's throat was cut; her hands had been tied against her back, and her clothing had been partly torn from her body. The crime was one of the worst ever committed in this section. Near the body was found several small bundles of groceries and $14 in money. The body was found following a search by a posse of neighbors of the Mitchell family. The slain girl was last seen by her parents about 8 o'clock at night, when she started for the village store, two and a half miles distant.

BOOM IN OIL

Advance in Price Stimulated Operations in Indiana.

Hartford City, Ind., July 26.—One more point in the upward trend of the oil market and the Indiana crude product will have reached the long talked about and much expected $1 a barrel. The Ohio Oil company in its office in this county has announced an advance of 2 cents on Indiana and Ohio crude, making them both 99 cents a barrel. North Lima is $1.04 a barrel. This is the highest price for several years. The steady advance has stimulated operations in the Indiana field slightly, and several new wells are being sunk in this part of the state.

Wanted in Tennessee.

Spartanburg, S. C., July 26.—W. J. Massie, president of the Georgia Public Service corporation and other companies, was arrested here as he was passing through on a train from New York to Macon, Ga. He is wanted in Tennessee on a charge of having attempted by threats to coerce Robert Williams, formerly his employee, into dropping a civil suit against Mr. Massie for defamation of character. Under the Tennessee code this is a felony punishable by imprisonment from three to ten years.

DIGNITY IN LOW NUMBERS

New York Business Men Said to Attach Importance to Figures of Their Telephones.

"Such a small thing as a telephone number has some significance in the standing of a firm," remarked a New Yorker who had little else to do but talk and observe. "How so?" asked the other. "Take the low numbers—Broad 1, for instance—and, as a rule, it will be the number belonging to an old established firm, provided, of course, that firm has remained in one location. The firm now bearing the above number was in existence before telephones were in use at all, and in like manner it is possible to ascertain the old established business houses. If a firm moves, but remains in the same exchange, it has the privilege of retaining its original telephone number. Americans don't care much for age and long established anything; as a class, but there are many firms in this city that are proud of their telephone numbers in a system where the numbers run high up in the thousands."

BROOKVILLE IS VERY HOPEFUL

Newspapers Profess to See Signs Which Point to Success of Rushville Extension.

WORKING ON RIGHT-OF-WAY

Next Few Weeks Will Determine the Route to be Taken It is Believed.

Brookville newspapers have constructed a number of "signs" in the last week to be favorable indications for the ultimate success of the Rushville extension of the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company's lines to Cincinnati. Officials of the I. & C. are at work on the right-of-way. The Brookville American says:

Lewis Henry returned to Brookville this week to continue the work of securing the right-of-way for the I. & C. traction line.

George E. Mullin and A. J. Shriner were invited to meet with the I. & C. board of directors at their meeting in Indianapolis last Thursday. Messrs. Mullin and Shriner were cordially received and responded to numerous questions concerning the scenic valley route. The Brookville representatives assured the traction officials that the Commercial club stood ready to render any service it could in siding the company to secure the right-of-way through Franklin county.

We understand President C. L. Henry and Chief Engineer Moore expect to enter the county today to examine parts of the original survey, with a view of making some changes, which will improve grades and alignments and also make easier the securing of right-of-way.

This all looks to us as if the directors were beginning to realize that the valley route is the best one, all things considered for their through line from Indianapolis to Cincinnati.

In all probability the next few weeks will determine whether the traction line is to come through Brookville or not. Those who are in closest touch with the movement are most hopeful that the decision of the board will be in favor of the Rushville-Brookville extension. But whether we get it or do not get it, the splendid efforts of the Commercial club to secure the line has served to unify the energy of the business and professional interests of Brookville as it has never been before. Not a jar or sign of friction has been observed in the movement to secure the traction line. This unanimity of purpose has been noted by the traction people and is an evidence to them that the Brookville Commercial club is a live wire carrying a high voltage capable of doing bigger work as time goes on.

ADVERTISE CHAUTAUQUA

Treasurer of Shelby County Association Visits Here Today.

Peter G. Kamp, treasurer of the Shelby County Chautauqua Association was here today advertising the chautauqua which will be held in Shelbyville August 10 to 18. Eight automobiles started out from Shelbyville this morning to distribute literature concerning the assembly, each taking a different route. This will be the first attempt at Shelbyville. William J. Bryan will be the "headliner," and a number of other attractions on the program are those which have already been here.

PLANS BARN RAISING.

Alva Eakins is planning to hold an old-fashioned barn raising at his farm northeast of the city in ten days or two weeks. Work has been started on a new modern barn, and when the framework is all ready, the neighbors and friends will be invited in to take part in the barn raising. This event was the occasion for a great social gathering in a farming community some years ago.

O. E. HUMES HAS GOOD PROSPECT

Jimmy Swi, in Mart Wilson's Stable, Has Been Mile in 3:12, Last Half in 1:02½.

GOT TRAINING ON THE FARM

Mart Wilson the past week showed up a splendid green pacer at the Indiana State fair track in Jimmy Swi, a four-year-old gelding by Bon Patch, a son of The Patchen Boy, out of Nellie Bly, by Mulatto, second dam of Woodford's Mambrino, says the Western Horseman. He was a mile on June 27 in 2:12, last half in 1:02½, with the last quarter in 30 seconds, a remarkable showing for a green pacer that was placed in training the first day of May.

Jimmy Swi is owned by O. E. Humes of Rushville, Ind., who breeds trotters and pacers for use on his large farm, where they get their early education doing farm work, the best education that a young horse can possibly get, insuring in them good manners, a strong conformation as well as speed development.

Jimmy Swi is fifteen hands three inches, weighs 1050 pounds in racing condition, and is a sound prospect that has all his usefulness before him. He is in condition now for a campaign and should be a splendid money getter.

MAY TRY HIKE TO CINCINNATI NEXT

In Letter to Connersville News Rosie Brock Intimates She and Miss Felts May Attempt It.

ARE IN FLUSH OF SUCCESS

In a letter to the Connersville News describing the "hike" she and Miss Pauline Felts made to Indianapolis last Sunday, Miss Rosie Brock, local Western Union telegraph operator, hints that she and Miss Felts are contemplating conquering even larger distances afoot. If conditions are favorable, it is intimated in the letter that the two girls who have already established a reputation which would qualify them for a Marathon race, may walk to the "Queen City" a week from next Sunday.

In case they decide on such a "hike" it is probable that the two girls will start in time to reach Cincinnati before dark Sunday night. The distance from here to Cincinnati is twice that from here to Indianapolis, which they accomplished last Sunday, which trip is enough to have daunted the hobo accustomed to forty-mile walks.

HE RUNS AUTO TOO FAST

R. H. Baker of Falmouth Pays Fine at Greensburg.

Chief Johnson about noon Thursday caught the time in which R. H. Baker of Falmouth, was traveling along in his automobile and promptly placed the young man under arrest and slated a charge of violating the speed ordinance, says the Greensburg News. At the mayor's office he pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $5 and costs which he paid, as he was anxious to get out of the city without further delay.

ROBBERS STEAL RAZOR.

Robbers, some time during last night, broke into the Otto Snyder merchandise store and the office of the elevator at Fountaintown, but nothing of very much value was taken by the law breakers, the only thing being missed so far was a razor, which was taken from the Snyder store. Bloodhounds from Indianapolis were put on their track without success.

MAKE PERILOUS TOUR OF EAST

A. B. Irvin and Ben Sparks Encounter Some Rough Experience in Automobile Trip.

TO MAKE AVERAGE OF 30 MILES

Almost Lost Their Car When They Drove on Ferry and Didn't Set Brake.

A. B. Irvin, president of the Farmers Trust Company and Ben Sparks, city mail carrier, are making a tour of the East in Mr. Irvin's automobile, and a letter from Mr. Irvin to Theodore Heeb of the Farmers Trust Company, describing some of the incidents of the trip will be of interest: Coatesville, Pa., July 24, 1912.

My Dear Heeb—You can read this letter to Caldwell and any others that may be interested. Took in the battlefield of Gettysburg this morning and arrived here at 7 p. m.—106 miles in the rain and mud. We are only 42 miles from Philadelphia and expect to be in Atlantic City tomorrow evening, making a total mileage of 598 miles in 5 days.

No trouble of any kind except losing about everything about the car caused by the mountain roads, which are so vile that I can not tell you about them. When we did strike a good road in the mountain region, which we sometimes did, we were compelled to break my rule of 30 miles per hour. Monday we had an awful time of it. It fell to my lot to drive over the Cumberland Mountains and also the vilest piece of road we found anywhere later on. We finally struck a paradise of a road 12 miles long coming into Cumberland, Md. Ben was at the wheel and he opened her up and before I knew what we were driving, so good did it feel, we were hitting it up at 55 miles per hour and even then old Betsy was not doing her best.

I am looking for Ben to be arrested any moment for I can't hold him down in going over the good city streets. The motor has been singing a merry tune ever since we left home.

I thought Ben was going into the Monongahela river the other day. We were crossing in a ferry and he drove the car on. When the boat started the car began to run backward when I commenced to hallow and gesture wildly. I knew the car could not swim and Ben could. He forgot to set the brake and the motion of the boat started the car backward.

We rode the first two days without our caps and we are sights. Our faces look like those of big red faced monkeys you sometimes see in the zoological gardens.

Ben drove today. I did not have time. We passed 400 toll gates and I was busy handing out nickels. One place I paid 40 cents for riding one and one-eighth miles. But it was over the bridge crossing the Susquehanna river. They sure do soak one for toll.

We will be in Philadelphia by ten tomorrow morning and to Atlantic City during the afternoon where we will stay two or three days and aim to get to New York by the evening of the 29th.

These vile roads have caused me to break a prominent commandment something like a million times. You remember those nice, new non-skid tires I had when I left home. Well, the treads are as smooth as billiard balls, caused by skidding down the mountains, but thank the Lord, we have had no trouble. I drove down a 20 mile stretch that I would not drive again for $500. A man, a day or two ahead of us, went into a telegraph pole and cut it square off, the cross arms and top of the pole falling into the tonneau. A short time before the accident he had invited a mountaineer and his wife to ride with him, but they declined on account of the old lady being afraid of the blamed thing. It must have been intuition instead of fear in the mind of the old woman. Of course, I could not think of wishing the mountain couple any harm, but if they had climbed into the tonneau, what the blind goddess would have done to them would have evened up the score for those bad roads.

Our rope came in handy just once. Coming down the mountains we came across a Brooklyn man, his wife and son. His brakes failed to work and to avoid a base fate he had backed into the side of the road and there he stuck. He had a big old car weighing about two tons and was bound for Princeton, Ind. He'll never get there in that car. We jacked up his rear wheels and piled about a ton of stone in the ditches and old Betsy and the rope did the trick and put him on the road again.

The battlefield of Gettysburg is interesting because it marks the high tide of the Confederacy and the loss of 60,000 of as brave men as ever listened to their country's call. But the field of Chicamauga is more interesting, possibly because my partner and friend of 35 years, the late George H. Puntenney, was a survivor of that famous battle and I have heard him tell the story often enough to be familiar with it.

But it's ten o'clock and we're off for the hay. IRVIN.

IS ASSOCIATION TO BE DROPPED?

which all men would co-operate and endeavor to keep the good work progressing.

As it was said at the meeting last night, Rushville has reached a stage in its development where it can not continue to march forward at this time as it has been would mean that Rushville would be back in the rut once more. Now that Rushville has a reputation in this section of the State for having emerged from a period of drowsiness and is now a wide awake city, efforts to keep the same idea paramount should not be stunted, it is argued.

There are many reasons why Rushville should not fail at this time. Chief among these, it is advocated, is the opportunity to get the I. & C. Cincinnati extension from this city. Many believe that this extension would be much more beneficial than a good factory.
